Memories of the Stream Memories of the Stream The Colquitz Creek "The word would get out 'Maurice got a 24 incher, Ross got an 18 incher, Jake got four on Saturday'. We used to head straight from school to the The fish swim by as I watch with only the naked eye creek and had rods hidden in the bushes to save going home. We could They fight the power of the water and the pool deep enough to swim in. I remember one fish which was ways figure on a fish a day when fishing afternoons and maybe two or As the temperature gets hotter much larger than the usual small ones and I would imagine a pound or a bit ree for a Saturday or Sunday. Salmon could be seen jumping below the Gracefully the trees sway as summer fades away larger. My pal caught it and it was the biggest trout either of us had seen."
